Job Applicant Privacy Notice

As part of any recruitment process, the RIDERS consortium collects and processes personal data relating to job applicants. The network is committed to being transparent about how it collects and uses that data in order to meet its data protection obligations.

What information do we collect?

The RIDERS network collects a range of information about you. This includes:

- Your name, address and contact details, including email address and telephone number;
- Details of your qualifications, skills, experience and employment history;
- Information about your entitlement to work in the EU,
- Information about your family situation to determine whether you are eligible to the corresponding benefit.

The RIDERS network may collect this information in a variety of ways. For example, data might be contained in application forms, CVs (resumes), copies of degrees, or through interviews or other forms of assessment.

Data will be stored in our Application database, shared among the recruiting institutions and backed up in other IT systems (including email).

Why does the RIDERS network process personal data?

Given the objective of our research project, which is the recruitment and training of 10 Doctoral Candidates, we need to process data in order to select the most suitable candidate for each open position.

The RIDERS network has a legitimate interest in processing personal data during the recruitment process and for keeping records of the process. Processing data from job applicants allows us to manage the recruitment process, assess and confirm a candidate's suitability for employment and prepare the reports required by the project funder guarantying the open, transparent, impartial and equitable nature of the recruitment procedure.

If your application is unsuccessful, the RIDERS network may keep your personal data on file in case there are future employment opportunities for which you may be suited. You are free to withdraw your consent at any time.

Who has access to data?

Your information may be shared within the RIDERS network of beneficiaries and associated partners, and with the funding agency, only with your consent.

How does the RIDERS network protect your data?

We take the security of your data seriously. We have internal policies and controls in place to ensure that your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, and is not accessed except by our beneficiaries and associated partners for the purpose of recruitment.

For how long does the RIDERS network keep data?

The RIDERS network will hold your data on file during the recruitment process and up to five years following the end of the RIDERS project (i.e. until the 29th February 2033) to be able to justify the complete recruitment process should an audit be performed by the funding agency. You are presently asked whether you give us consent to hold your details in order to be considered for the RIDERS open positions.

Your right to access your data

As a data subject, you have a number of rights. You can:

- Access and obtain a copy of your data on request;
- Require the organisation to change incorrect or incomplete data;
